Cookie policy for DGI Byen

Foreningen for DGIs Landscentre i København for Idræt og Kultur

CVR no.: 19476502

DGI Byen's website uses cookies and similar technology to collect and process data about our visitors' use of our website pages and services.

This cookie policy provides information about what a cookie is as well as our use of cookies and similar technology.

This cookie policy applies to our use of cookies on the website www.dgi-byen.dk

Please see our privacy policy as well.

A cookie is a data file that is transferred to our device (e.g. your mobile phone or computer) for the purpose of registering data. For example, one type of cookie could allow our website to determine what browser you are using, while another cookie can save your preferences and other information.

Our website can also use other types of technology that have a functionality corresponding to cookies, such as web beacons and tracking URLs that collect data about visitors to our website. We can also use web beacons and tracking URLs in the messages we send you to determine whether you have viewed the contents of a specific message or clicked on a specific link.

Your browser may contain options in your settings that allow you to reject cookies or require your case-by-case approval of cookies stored on your device.

Please note that certain parts of our website may not work as intended - or at all - if you do not allow cookies.

Our website uses two types of cookies: Persistent cookies and session cookies. Session cookies usually expire the moment you close your browser.

Persistent cookies remain on your device after you close your browser, and they can be used again next time you visit a page on our website.

Our website uses a number of cookies and related technology for different purposes, which include the following: Cookies that enable, facilitate and streamline the functionality of our website across different pages, devices and browser sessions.

Cookies that simplify your access to and use our website pages and facilitate that access.

Cookies that monitor and analyse the performance, operation and efficiency of our website so that we can make improvements and optimisations to the website.

Cookies that show you content (which may include advertising material) that is more relevant to you. For example, this could entail individualising the content of newsletters if you have agreed to receive newsletters from us.

Cookies that detect and prevent fraudulent or otherwise unlawful actions. We may also allow our business partners to store cookies on your device. Our partners' cookies are stored for the purpose of collecting data that allows them to provide services to us.

This document will be updated on a regular basis.
